Run No. 17 : Steve Walters / Nobby Clarke

In weather more suited to swimming and beer drinking, a strong looking pack (yes Reardon and Dixon were there!) set off in sweltering conditions to devour anything the hares could throw at us. An early indication that the elements were against us was the unusual sight of hare Steve "who said queer"? Walters powdering his nose in anticipation of things to come.

A close scrutiny of the paper ("what paper did you say?") showed that Nobby had played a large part in the setting of this run. Mystery :- Why did Nobby try to destroy all his accounting records when a quick running audit disclosed evidence of a thriving legal practice? Did you know that Jonathan-"I can put two and two together" Orton is a revenue agent?

An appraisal of the run revealed evidence of some very devious minds which doesn't necessarily mean that all hares are deviates but you will have noticed how fiendishly cunning some of those falsies were and how twice, on an evening where even the previous week's black slime would have been welcome, the hares took a rapidly dehydrating pack past cool clear refreshing water. Experienced Hasher Brian "they must be mad" Orton who has suffered at the hands of a thousand hares, was heard to allocate a score of minus nine for this unforgivable oversight.

With nothing to alleviate the intense heat the check points were soon looking like refugee camps after a nuclear fall out and it was a brave yet reluctant few who went searching for new trails. Amongst these were Eric "I was definitely on paper" Smith who lead a splinter group comprising himself, two cane rats and a python around the wrong side of a mountain, Garth "I'm a confirmed masochist" Berg who appeared to be doing an awful lot of backtacking, Neil "I like mucking around fountains" Fick who was, on numerous occasions, seen inspecting the agriculture on the hillsides and Mark "not another falsie"! Warman who was seen regularly fighting his way through the pack. Special mention must also be made of that master of illusion Dick "maak as of jy loop maar loop nie" Kernick who continually gives the impression of being hash's top trail blazer but from all accounts has never actually found paper.

With those Kings of the Mountains - Alex Thompson, Flip-Flop Orton and Trevor McWade showing the way an almost vertical hillside which had us lesser mortals gasping for breath was eventually successfully negotiated and from this scenic vantage point our hares had devised a long pleasant but tricky run in back to the cars where beers were cracked open in an almost indecent haste.

N.B. - Many thanks Steve and Nobby for a good effort which helped get rid of most of the excesses of Christmas.

STAR OF THE WEEK

Welcome to that veteran of ten thousand runs - REG "OLD MAN RIVER" GREENHALGH who brought a little culture to the Durban North Hash in the form of a most distinguished looking beer glass.
