Run no. 17: Dave Fraser & Richard Kernick:

A new twist to an old tale - or rather a new hash in old territory. Set in area we'd 'covered' twice before but somehow we hadn't exhausted the possibilities, Dave & Richard kept the pack guessing - running - it was verging on the sadistic side this, to keep the trail going up that hill with likely-looking side-trails which they consistently refused to take. Later on, running along a cane contour we actually came across paper originally set by Terry McWade & John Parson as far back as 3.11.81. Who said paper was bio-degradable? At this stage, John Hudson was in the lead but he lost all concentration at the flagrant rule-breaking of Ken Reardon who cut straight across cane from a false he'd unwisely followed.

Many thanks for a well-set run.

Next week

Rumour has it that Mervyn Mc Gregor has laid on a barmaid [No pun intended].
